1. To C. Alexander (March 5, 2026)

Hey C

Thank you for reaching out. I appreciate your interest, and I'd be glad to talk more about my approach to tutoring and how I structure instruction.

Since you're planning ahead for the June and August 2026 LSAT, a consultation would be a great place to start. You can schedule one here at whatever time works best for you:

https://cal.com/joshua-jtx5ud/consultation

On the call, we can talk through your timeline, goals, and the best way to approach your preparation moving forward.

If you have any trouble finding a time, just reply here and we'll make it work.

Best,

Joshua

2. To Isabella Ascher (March 23, 2026)

Hi Isabella,

It is a pleasure to meet you! Thanks for reaching out about LSAT tutoring.

I would love to chat and see if we are a good fit. I have attached my booking link below so you can pick a time that works best for you this week.

https://cal.com/joshua-jtx5ud/consultation

Let me know if you have any trouble finding a time or if you have any other questions.

Best,

Joshua

3. To Amaya Pereira (March 5, 2026)

Hi Amaya,

Thank you for reaching out. I'd be happy to share more about my LSAT tutoring services and learn a bit about what you're working toward.

You can schedule a consultation here at whatever time works best for you:

https://cal.com/joshua-jtx5ud/consultation

We'll use the call to talk through your current position, your goals, and whether we'd be a good fit to work together.

If you run into any issues with scheduling, just reply here and we'll make it work.

Best,

Joshua

4. To Nikki Marlene (February 6, 2026)

5. To Jocelyn Feliciano (August 23, 2025)

Hi Jocelyn,

Sorry for the delay in my response, and thanks for reaching out and sharing your background. Going from the low 160s into the 170s on a tight timeline is ambitious, but absolutely achievable with the right plan.

Let's set up a free consultation to talk through strategy and next steps: Book here

https://cal.com/joshua-jtx5ud/consultation

Looking forward to connecting.

Best,

Joshua

1. To Adriana Varea (February 28, 2026)

Hi Adriana,

Thanks for reaching out and congrats on the 162. Going from a 149 diagnostic to consistently low 160s is real progress, and that 167 shows the ability is there.

Yes, I do offer a free consult. If you'd like, you can grab a time here:

https://cal.com/joshua-jtx5ud/consultation

On the call, we'll talk through what's keeping you around the 161 range so we can see if we're a good fit.

Looking forward to meeting you,

Joshua

2. To Rayani Chonmany (August 24, 2025)

Hi Rayani,

Thank you for reaching out—it's great to hear from you. Yes, I'm still offering LSAT tutoring, and November is a perfect timeline to work toward. I'd love to learn more about your goals and share how I can help you maximize your score.

You can book a free consultation directly using this link:

https://cal.com/joshua-jtx5ud/consultation

Looking forward to speaking with you soon.

Warmly,

Hi Jamil,

Thanks for reaching out! Regarding your question about my style and methods, I like to take an intuitive approach that is still very systematic and structured to allow for consistency. It will be much easier to run through a couple of questions during our consultation so you can see how it works firsthand.

I've attached a consultation link below. Please let me know if you have any questions beforehand.
